WEBER GAS BARBECUES ARE DIFFERENT

The difference is Weber's unique gas barbecuing system.

You'll find that your new barbecue works differently from any other barbecue you have ever used.

You may have to throw out some of your old ideas, but once you understand and master the use of Weber's 'direct' and 'indirect' cooking methods you'll find that the results are truly outstanding.

So what's different?

YOU ALWAYS COOK WITH THE LID DOWN
WHY?

First, cooking with the lid down creates natural convection of air inside the barbecue. This means that you are able to use 'indirect cooking' (similar to roasting) as well as 'direct cooking' (barbecuing).

Whether you are barbecuing or roasting, this natural convection results in more even cooking with more natural juices retained.

Second, you will achieve an outstanding barbecue flavour that you can't get by cooking with the lid open. The flavour is produced when the barbecue smoke that is trapped under the lid circulates around the meat during cooking.

Third, cooking times are greatly reduced (about half of what you would expect on an open barbecue), which means you can barbecue the same food in about half the time.

Last, less gas is required to cook foods so you don't need to fill the gas bottle nearly as often. So remember, only open the lid to turn or baste foods as indicated in the recipes. Resist the temptation to continually turn the food.

THERE ARE TWO BARBECUING METHODS

As previously mentioned, there are two barbecuing methods. The 'direct' method where food is placed directly over the heat (like traditional barbecuing) and the 'indirect' method where there is no heat under the food (more like roasting). It was this 'indirect method' that made the Weber kettle so famous here in Australia.

The most important thing to know about cooking with your gas barbecue is which cooking method you should use for each recipe.

From our experience using the correct cooking method is essential if you want to achieve the best possible results.

'DIRECT METHOD' (HOW IT WORKS)

The 'direct method' means the food is barbecued directly over the heat source. For even cooking, food should be turned once halfway through the cooking time.

WHEN TO USE THE 'DIRECT METHOD'

Use the direct method for foods that take less than 25 minutes to cook. For example; steaks, chops, kebabs, sausages, tomato halves and pineapple rings.

The 'direct method' allows you to sear meats (browning the meat on high heat) and create that wonderful crisp, caramelized texture when the food comes into contact with the hot grill. It also adds great colour to the entire surface. Steaks, chops, chicken breast and other larger cuts of meat benefit from the use of initial direct high heat. Thick cuts of meat will require direct high heat for about two to three minutes per side with smaller cuts requiring less time.

After the initial direct high heat you turn down the control settings and finish cooking the food at a lower temperature. With foods taking less than 25 minutes continue using the 'direct method' and for foods taking longer, for example a 30-50mm steak, finish cooking using the indirect method.

USING THE SEAR SECTION.

The Sear 'Steak' Section on your Summit was specially designed for those people who love their steak cooked over a super-hot grill. The steak is branded on the outside, tender on the inside and has that lovely char-grilled flavour.

To get the best result from the sear section, steaks should be a minimum of 25mm (one inch) thick and have any excess fats removed.

TO GET THE BEST RESULTS FROM THE SEAR 'STEAK' SECTION.

Place your steak directly over the sear burner and tap down with the back of your tongs to ensure your steak has good contact with the grill. Close the lid and cook for 30 seconds. Open the lid and turn the steak through 90°. This will give your steak that beautiful "X" (criss-cross) branded finish. Cook a further 30 seconds, open the lid and turn the steak over. Repeat the process. The steak is seared in 2 minutes. This will give you a wonderfully seared outside and a rare inside to your steak. For those who like the flavour of a really charred steak (on the outside) follow the same instructions but cook for one minute rather than 30 seconds, a total of four minutes.

After searing, for a medium rare, medium or well-done steak, move the steak over the low heat of the outside burners until it is cooked to your liking (the thicker the steak the longer the cooking time). For approximate cooking times refer to the Barbecuing Guide at the end of this book.

GETTING YOUR GAS BARBECUE READY FOR BARBECUING

Open the lid. Check that all burner control knobs are turned to OFF and that your gas bottle has sufficient gas. Turn the gas supply on at the source. Light the barbecue according to the directions in the owner's manual. Close the lid and preheat the barbecue with all burners on HIGH for about 10 minutes. To cook, adjust burner controls as the recipe directs.

When using the Sear 'Steak' Section light all the main burners and then light the sear section burner and close the lid. After 10 mins turn the two outside burners to low and leave all the other burners on high. Your Summit is preheated and ready for sear section cooking.

HOW TO COOK CHOPS, SAUSAGES AND OTHER MEATS WITH A HIGH FAT CONTENT

There are two ways you can do this.

If you don't mind trimming the excess fat from your meat you can barbecue the meat using the Direct Method on page 2 of this cookbook. However, we do not recommend cooking high fat content meats using the sear section.

If you choose to cook meat with the fat left on, never use the direct method. Instead use the hotplate provided with your barbecue. This will avoid the chance of any unwanted flare-ups.

'INDIRECT METHOD' (HOW IT WORKS)

The Indirect Method is similar to roasting, but with that barbecued texture, flavour, and appearance you can't get from an oven. When using your gas barbecue for Indirect cooking, burners are lit on either side of the food but not directly beneath it. Heat rises and reflects off the lid and inside surfaces of the barbecue. Hot air circulates to cook the food evenly on all sides, much like a convection oven, so there's no need to turn the food.

WHEN TO USE THE 'INDIRECT METHOD'

Use the 'indirect method' for roasting, for barbecuing thick cuts of meat that have been seared and for foods that are so delicate that direct exposure to high heat would dry them out, scorch or blister them. Examples include seared steaks that are 30-50mm thick, seared chicken quarters and delicate baked whole fish or fish fillets.

When Indirect cooking you only cook on the grills (the hotplate can be removed from the barbecue).

GETTING YOUR GAS BARBECUE READY FOR ROASTING

Open the lid. Check that all burner control knobs are turned to OFF and that your gas bottle has sufficient gas. Turn the gas supply on at the source. Light the barbecue according to the directions in the owner's manual. Close the lid and preheat the barbecue with the outside burners on HIGH for about 10 minutes (to avoid any chance of scorching the bottom of the roast the burners that will be directly below the roast when cooking should always be turned OFF when preheating).

HEAT SETTINGS FOR USE WHEN ROASTING

Model	Burners in use
Summit 470	Burners 1 and 4 (high) 2 and 3 (off)
Summit 670	Burners 1 and 6 (high) 2 and 5 (low) 3 and 4 (off)

ROASTING TIP

Getting the timing right so that your roast is cooked to your liking can be difficult at times when cooking outside. Wind, ambient temperature and the temperature of the meat when you started cooking all influence the amount of time a roast needs to be cooked.

One of the best ways to make sure you get your roast cooked just the way you like it is to use a meat thermometer. With a standard meat thermometer you can read the internal temperature of the meat, so you can tell when it's cooked to your liking. The latest meat thermometers are digital/remote, they really are fool-proof (how they work is explained on the inside back cover).

ROTISSERIE COOKING

The rotisserie has been designed to give your roasts an even, beautifully browned, all-over finish whilst maintaining a moist, flavour-some taste. When the food has browned to the desired colour the rotisserie burner can be turned off and the cooking finished using indirect heat.

Your infrared burner is fitted with a flame-failure device that will cut-off the flow of gas should your infrared burner go out. Always ensure when lighting the infrared burner that you hold the control knob in for 20 seconds to allow the flame failure device to reach operating temperature. Also, be aware that the lid thermometer will not reflect the temperature inside the barbecue when using the rotisserie burner.

BURNER SETTINGS WHEN USING A ROTISSERIE

Summit 4 burner models with infrared:

Remove the cooking grills and hotplate.

Light the infrared burner and both outside burners (burners one and four). The inside burners (two and three) are set to off. Once alight turn the infrared burner and the outside burners to LOW. Close the lid and pre-heat the barbecue for 10 minutes.

No further burner adjustments are required and your barbecue is now ready for rotisserie cooking. Remember, always cook with the lid down.

Summit 6 burner models with infrared:

Remove the cooking grills and hotplate.

Light the infrared burner and both burners at either end (burners one, two, five and six). The two central burners (three and four) are set to off. Once alight turn the infrared burner and both burners at either end (burners one, two, five and six) to LOW. Close the lid and pre-heat the barbecue for 10 minutes. No further burner adjustments are required and your barbecue is now ready for rotisserie cooking. Remember, always cook with the lid down.

SMOKER

The smoker has been designed to impart a mild smoke flavour to your foods. As with all smoking the lower the temperature you can cook at, the better the result, as the smoke needs to settle on the food to impart flavour. We have found that the best result for direct cooking is wood chips, whilst for indirect cooking we have found that a combination of chips and chunks gives a good result. The wood needs to be soaked in water for at least 30 minutes.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

At the top of each recipe, we indicate the appropriate cooking method (Direct or Indirect) and temperature (High, Medium or Low). Note that a barbecue set-up for 'Indirect cooking' can accommodate both methods (just move the food directly over a burner that is alight for Direct cooking). Where searing (browning quickly over a high heat) is particularly important to the texture or flavour, we note that as well (e.g. Sear/High then Direct/Low). Where a recipe requires you to roast, use the burner settings recommended in the 'Heat settings for use when roasting' on page 3.

BARBECUE AND FOOD SAFETY

- Trim excess fat from steaks, chops and roasts, leaving no more than 5mm of fat around the edge. Less fat is a virtual guarantee against unwanted flare-ups.
- If an unwanted flare-up should occur, turn all burners to OFF and move food to another area of the cooking grill. Any flames will quickly subside. After flames subside, relight the barbecue and continue cooking. NEVER USE WATER TO EXTINGUISH FLAMES ON A GAS BARBECUE.

- Do not line the funnel-shaped bottom tray with foil. This could prevent barbecue fat from flowing into the aluminium drip tray below.
- Make sure the funnel shaped bottom tray and the drip tray are always clean and free from debris.
- Barbecues radiate a lot of heat, so always keep the barbecue at least 1 metre away from any combustible materials, including the house, garage, deck rails, etc. Never use a barbecue indoors or under an enclosed patio.
- When you've finished cooking, turn off all the burners and the tap on the gas bottle or source.
- Wash hands thoroughly with hot, soapy water before starting any meal preparation and after handling raw meat, fish or poultry.
- Remember, thaw meat, fish and poultry in the refrigerator, never at room temperature.
- Never spray or brush oil on a hot cooking grill. Oil the food instead.
- Never place cooked food on the same platter that the raw food was placed on.
- Vigorously boil marinades that were used for raw meats, fish or poultry for 1 minute before using as a baste or sauce. If a sauce is to be basted on meat during cooking, divide the sauce in two, use one part for basting and the other for serving at the table.

Vegetable oil for hotplate

Combine all of the ingredients and mix them well.

Shape the mixture into patties and flatten them to the desired thickness. Refrigerate the patties until you are ready to cook.

Reduce the heat to Medium and smear a little oil over the hotplate to prevent the patties from sticking.

These burgers are delicious served in hamburger buns with onion rings, salad, eggs, bacon and your choice of relish or sauce.

BARBECUED RUMP ROAST

Direct/High then Indirect

Rump Steak 5-6cm thick

GAUCHO GRILL WITH CHIMICHURRI SAUCE

GAUCHO GRILL WITH CHIMICHURRI SAUCE

1 cup olive oil
¼ cup malt vinegar
⅓ cup minced parsley
¼ cup minced onion
4 cloves garlic, minced
2 teaspoons dried oregano leaves

In a medium bowl combine the chimichurri sauce ingredients. Let stand, covered, at room temperature for 8 hours or overnight.

Reserve some of the sauce in a separate bowl to serve with the grilled meat.

Drizzle the sauce over the meat and poultry and rub it into all surfaces. Cook the chicken using the Indirect setting until tender and juices run clear, 10-15 minutes each side. Cook the sausages using the Indirect setting, 8-10 minutes each side or until they are browned all over. Cook the steak over Direct/High heat until medium rare, about 4 minutes each side. Serve the meat and poultry with the reserved chimichurri sauce. Serves 8.

BARBECUED BUTTERFLIED LEG OF LAMB

For the baste:

3 cloves of garlic, pressed
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
½ cup dry sherry
1 teaspoon cumin
1 tablespoon chopped fresh rosemary juice of ½ lemon
salt and pepper to taste

With a sharp knife, trim the lamb of excess fat and slice any thick parts so it can be opened out to make the meat a more even thickness.

To make the baste combine all of the ingredients and mix them well.

Coat the lamb liberally with the baste on both sides. Allow it to stand for at least 1 hour covered in the refrigerator.

Skewer right through the meat lengthways with two or three metal skewers. This will help prevent the meat from curling during cooking. Cook the lamb on Direct/High heat for 3 minutes skin side up. Do not turn the lamb but finish cooking using the Indirect setting for 35-45 minutes or until cooked to your liking. Baste once or twice during the cooking time. Serves 4-6.

Loin pork chops (specially cut, 1 per person)
Vegetable oil

For the stuffing:

¼ cup sliced spring onions

¼ cup chopped green capsicum

3 tablespoons butter

¼ teaspoon dried rosemary leaves

⅛ teaspoon white pepper

2 cups cubed stale whole wheat bread (13mm cubes)

⅓-½ cup chicken broth

In advance ask your butcher to cut pork chops about 30mm thick. Have the butcher remove the bone, trim the chops of excess fat and cut pockets in each of them suitable for stuffing.

To make the stuffing use a small fry pan and sauté pecans, onions and green capsicum in butter until onions are tender. Stir in rosemary and pepper and sauté 1 minute longer. Combine pecan mixture and bread cubes in a medium bowl and toss with enough chicken broth just to moisten.

Spoon the stuffing into the pockets and secure edges with poultry pins. Brush the chops with oil on both sides and cook them over Direct/High heat for 4 minutes each side. Continue cooking using the Indirect setting until well cooked (about 8 to 10 minutes).

Remove the poultry pins before serving.

RICOTTA CHICKEN

RICOTTA CHICKEN

- 1/4 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves, divided
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- Olive oil
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika

Rinse the chicken and pat it dry with paper towels.

With poultry shears, cut along both sides of backbone the entire length of the chicken. Remove the backbone and tail. Secure the neck skin to the back of the chicken with pins.

A. Place the chicken, skin side up, on benchtop; press down on chicken with your palms to “pop” the bones so that chicken will lie flat.

B. Using a sharp paring knife and your fingers, loosen skin from the chicken and drumsticks starting at neck. Be careful not to tear or cut the skin. Mix the ricotta, Parmesan cheese, egg, 1 teaspoon of the basil, 1/2 teaspoon of the tarragon, parsley and garlic.

C. Carefully spoon this cheese mixture under the skin of chicken, pressing with your fingers to distribute it evenly over the chicken and drumsticks. Brush the chicken lightly with oil; sprinkle with the remaining basil, tarragon and paprika.

Cook the chicken, skin side up using the Indirect setting until chicken legs move easily and skin is well browned, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours. Serve the chicken cut into quarters. Serves 4.

A. Press down on chicken with palms of hand to pop bones so the chicken will lie flat.

B. Starting at neck, loosen skin over breast, thighs and legs with your fingers. Be careful not to tear or cut the skin.

C. Carefully spoon stuffing under skin, pressing with fingers to distribute stuffing evenly over the legs, the thighs, and lastly, the breast.

ROASTED TOMATOES STUFFED WITH RATATOUILLE

ROASTED TOMATOES STUFFED WITH RATA-TOUILLE

Direct/High and Indirect

4 large, ripe tomatoes
salt

For the stuffing:

1 medium red onion, cut crosswise into 10mm slices
1 medium red capsicum, stem and seeds removed, cut into flat pieces
1 medium zucchini, cut lengthwise in 10mm slices
Extra-virgin olive oil
Freshly ground black pepper
½ cup grated mozzarella cheese
1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh basil
1 teaspoon balsamic vinegar

Cut a 10mm slice off the top of each tomato. Discard the tops. With a small knife cut around the inside of the fleshy part of the tomato (do not cut through the bottom) to within 10mm of the skin.

With a teaspoon, scoop out the tomato flesh. Discard the juice and seeds to make room for the stuffing. Lightly salt the inside of the tomatoes and place them, cut side down, on a plate lined with paper towel.

To make the stuffing lightly brush or spray the onion, capsicum and zucchini with olive oil. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cook on a hotplate over Direct/High heat until tender, about 4 to 5 minutes each side for the onions and about 3 to 4 minutes each side for the capsicum and zucchini. Transfer the cooked vegetables to a cutting board and chop them into 10mm pieces. In a bowl, combine the cooked vegetables with the cheese, basil and vinegar to create the vegetable stuffing.

Spoon the vegetable stuffing into the tomatoes.

Cook the tomatoes using the Indirect setting until the cheese is melted and the vegetables are warm, 8 to 12 minutes. Serve immediately.

GRILLED RED CAPSICUM STUFFED WITH MOZZARELLA

1 small loaf crusty Italian bread
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 medium sweet red capsicums
1 cup fresh mozzarella cheese, cut into small cubes
1½ teaspoons dried basil
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 tablespoon olive oil
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper

Thinly slice the bread, remove crusts and cut into enough 10mm croutons to make 1 cup. Warm the olive oil in a frypan, add the croutons and sauté until golden. Drain on paper towel. Cut tops off capsicums about 10mm from top and reserve tops. Carefully remove seeds and membranes. In a bowl combine croutons, mozzarella, basil, garlic and oil. Mix well, adding salt and pepper to taste.

Stuff capsicums with mixture, replace tops and secure with toothpicks. Place capsicums on the cooking grill, top sides up, and cook using the Indirect setting until capsicums are soft, but still hold their shape, 12 to 15 minutes. Remove tops and cut in half lengthwise. Serves 6.

Barbecuing Guide

The following cuts, thicknesses, weights and barbecuing times are meant to be guidelines rather than hard and fast rules. Cooking times are affected by such factors as altitude, wind, outside temperature and how well done you like your meat. Cook roasts, whole poultry, bone-in poultry pieces, whole fish and other thicker cuts using the Indirect Method.

Digital Thermometer.

Roast-meat lovers should all have a barbecue beeper. The digital meat thermometer beeps to let you know when your roast is cooked to your liking. It doesn't even need to be near the barbecue; you can carry it around on your belt or leave it somewhere handy.

Here's how it works.

Suppose you're cooking a roast of tender veal and you like to cook it to medium. Select veal from the meat choices on your digital receiver. Select medium from the cooking options offered. Insert the meat probe into the meat inside your barbecue. Attached to the probe is a cable that leads to a transmitter. The transmitter sends signals to the digital receiver. When the meat is nearly cooked the receiver will beep four times. A short time later, the receiver will give a continuous beep which indicates that your veal is perfectly cooked to medium.

Barbecue Mitt.

Made of 100% cotton material, the mitt has a special flame retardant coating to protect you from the heat of your barbecue.
